

Loren Davis

Celeste Davis

Loren Davis was a successful businessman, entrepreneur and church evangelist. He wrote an article on the Second Coming of Christ that was published full page in the Dallas Morning News and many other papers in the United States as well as National newspapers of El Salvador, Honduras, Guatemala, Mexico, India, Egypt, and Israel. He is an author and an experienced bush pilot.

Celeste is a teacher and an author of many books about their African life together. She is also a singer and compliments the anointing of the evangelist.

BACKGROUND

Loren's father R.L. Davis, founded, pastored, and built many churches; was a tent evangelist and helped found Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship. His mother, Clara Mae McGowan Davis, was a great preacher in her own right. She wrote the popular book AZUSA STREET TIL NOW documenting the move of the Holy Spirit in the 1906 revival. Loren's McGowan grandparents received the Baptism of the Holy Ghost at Azusa Street. His grandmother McGowan was a leader turning the Holiness movement towards the move of the Holy Spirit.

Loren graduated from Vanguard University in Southern California with a B.A. in Social Science, and a minor in Anthropology and Bible.

From the age of 12 he read a chapter every day in the Bible until he was 22. After that for six years he read or listened to a Book a day in the Bible every day.

Loren is a professional Pilot with ratings in: private, commercial, instrument and multi-engine. In college Loren was healed of Sugar Diabetes. In 1994 he was healed of Facial Paralysis. In 1995 he was healed of Malaria in Africa.

He survived a plane crash in his DC-3 in 1996. Their testimony has been on the 700 Club. Celeste survived an attack and beating by a gang in 1997 in Africa. In 1998 Loren was healed of TB.

ANOTHER PLANE came in 1997 as the Lord miraculously provided them with Chariot of Fire II, a Cessna 206 bush plane lovingly named Beauty for Ashes. He and Celeste survived a terrible Storm in their plane in November 2000 and another plane crash in 2006 on their way to Sudan.

LOREN AND CELESTE have had their metal TESTED BY FIRE and NOTHING HAS STOPPED THEM.

They have built 272 churches in African villages, evangelized in 6 African countries plus Hong Kong, India, Central America and the Caribbean. They have raised up Pastors and Teachers that are standing today because of their commitment to the Word of God in ministry to others.
